

Startup vs Corporation (vsdiff.com)

Feature	Startup	Corporation
Size	Generally small and agile	Large and often bureaucratic
Funding	Typically relies on venture capital or angel investors	May rely on public offerings or large private investments
Culture	Dynamic and innovative, risk-taking environment	Structured, formal, and process-driven
Decision-making	Quick, often consensus-driven	Often slow, hierarchical processes
Flexibility	Highly adaptable to change	Less flexible due to established protocols
Market Orientation	Focus on niche markets or disruptive products	Focus on stable, broad market segments
Employee Roles	Multiple hats, team collaboration	Defined roles with clear hierarchy
Innovation	Value innovation and experimentation	Prioritize efficiency and optimization

Source: <https://vsdiff.com/startup-vs-corporation/>